Challenge or Opportunity: Mothers are faced with significantly different circumstances than in recent history, due to many of them having their children learning remotely at home. Many mothers have also lost the opportunity to work the way they previously had, either having to also work remotely, or having to leave their position all together.

Approach or Solution: Your Successful Life was formed to offer dedicated support and mentoring for mothers, so they can be equipped with the practical tools and strategies to overcome challenges, accomplish goals, and begin living the life they want while juggling parenting & everything else. I offer a free support group, as well as mentoring and instructional course.

Impact: I have seen mothers begin to take the small consistent actions that are necessary in order to, not only achieve our goals, but maintain sustainable success. I have seen mothers come together in a safe place where they feel supported by a fellow mother & are able to connect with mothers who have gone before them and are going through it with them.
